At an adjourned meeting of the Common Council of the city of Alexandria, held on the 26th day of February, 1889, there were present: John T. Sweney, esq., President, and Messrs. Aitchison, Snowden, C. N. Moore, Fisher, Smoot, Corbett, Strider, Harkin, Wadley, Bayne and Kelly.

The Finance Committee reported upon the communication of the Auditor as to the appropriation for board of prisoners in favor of an additional appropriation of $250, which report was adopted.

The following resolutions were offered by Mr. Aitchison and adopted: to wit—

Whereas many errors have occurred and are likely to occur in establishing the street lines of the city, particularly on streets lying on the west of Columbus street and north of King street, by which the city has suffered great loss and inconvenience and will suffer great loss and inconvenience in the future;

1. Be it resolved, That the City Surveyor be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed within sixty days to establish the grade and building lines of these streets running west of Columbus street and north of King street, and to show the said grade and building lines upon a map, which map showing said lines shall be submitted by the City Surveyor to the City Council for their approval.

I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for the last five years. About three years ago I commenced the use of Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The season of small, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—[H. L. Meyer, Waverly, N. Y.]

Ely's Cream Balm cured me of catarrh and restored my sense of smell. For cold in head it works like magic.—[E. H. Showwood, Banker, Elizabeth, N. J.]

DIED.

On February 25th, 1889, at the residence of her son, C. O. Semmes, 509 D street northeast, Washington, Mrs. ELIZA A. SEMMES, in the 72d year of her age, widow of the late Charles W. Semmes, of Charles county, Md.

cratic colleagues to a paper favoring the consideration of the substitute, but, failing signally, have abandoned the attempt.

Mr. Randall has determined to be initiated into the order of the G. A. R.—the organization that publicly insulted not only the President of the country, but the President elected by Mr. Randall's own party—in this city, on the night of the 4th of March. A Pennsylvania democrat when told of this to-day remarked that he had thought for some time Mr. Randall was in his dotage, and that now his opinion was confirmed.

The friends of the bill for the relief of the Theological Seminary, near Alexandria, are now striving to have the object of that bill provided for in the deficiency bill now before Congress. They say the latter bill will be amended in the Senate so as to accomplish their object, and they were diligently striving with the Virginia members of the House to day to have that amendment concurred in when the bill shall come back to that body.

General Lee's recovery is not as rapid as his physicians at first supposed it would be, and his sickness still keeps him confined to his room.

Late yesterday evening Mr. Riddleberger renewed his motion of the day before for an executive session of the Senate, and the democratic members of that body supported it for the reason that they wanted to have the nomination of Mr. Stephenson as Associate Justice of the District Court of this city confirmed. As soon, however, as the doors of the Senate were closed, the Virginia Senator knocked all the fat in the fire by moving to confirm the nomination of Mr. Webb as Commissioner of the District of Columbia, for Mr. Webb, being looked upon as a mugwump republican, is an objectionable to democrats as he is to republicans, and so the whole democratic object of the executive session was defeated and nothing was done except the confirmation of a few military promotions.

In the next Senate, which will meet on the 4th proximo, Senator elect Barbour of Virginia will have the seat now occupied by Senator Kenna of West Virginia, and Senator Kenna, the one now occupied by Senator Sallaberger of Delaware.

Representatives Bayley Browne and J. R. Brown, republicans of Virginia, ensure the bloody shirt speech of Representative Kennedy, republican of Ohio, in the House yesterday evening, as much as any of their fellow ex Confederate democratic colleagues do. Many of Mr. Kennedy's Northern republican colleagues, however, heartily approve all he said. And yet the latter wonder why the South is solid.

Senators Sherman, Frye, Ingalls, Aldrich, and Representatives Long, Henderson, and Baker, and numerous other prominent republicans, called upon Mr. Harrison to day. The President and his wife will call upon Mr. Harrison and his wife this evening, and the call will be returned tomorrow.

It is said to-day that Messrs. Ba'ne and Windom are the only members of the next Cabinet whose places are certain; that while Messrs. Wadsworth and Brewster will have places, those places have not yet been determined, and that the other four places may possibly not be definitely filled before Sunday night.

A few days ago Mr. J. Thomas Washer, a citizen of Prince George county, while returning home from a visit to Petersburg, was overtaken about dark on the road about a mile from that city, by some unknown party, who knocked him down and robbed him.

The demurrer of the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company to the suit brought against it in the United States Circuit Court of New York, by bondholders of the $1,000 bonds of the North Carolina Railroad Company, guaranteed by the State of North Carolina, was sustained yesterday.

The Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company of Baltimore has been appointed trustee under a mortgage for the bondholders of the Roanoke and Southern Railroad, to build fifty miles of road from Winston, N. C. to Roanoke, the road being bonded for $900,000. The bonds will pay six per cent, and will run for fifty years.

"SAT UPON."—Mr. Kennedy, representative in Congress from the eighth district of Ohio, got on a rampage in the House yesterday, and went out of his way to denounce the House election committee and the Speaker, intimating that Mr. Breckinridge, of Arkansas, had been elected by fraud, and declared that Gen. Fitzgugh Lee, Beauregard and Rosser should have been gibbeted at the close of the war. After he had exhausted the patience of the House he was repelled by Messrs. Crisp of Georgia, Breckinridge of Arkansas, and Turner of Georgia, and castigated in a manner which was almost cruel if it had not been so deserved. Kennedy will probably occupy less of the attention of the House hereafter. The unkindest cut of all received by Kennedy was from his republican colleague, Hon. Jacob Romeis, from the Toledo district, whose seat had been contested by the Hon. Frank Hurd. Mr. Romeis arose in his seat and said: "I did not know what my colleague was going to say. I am a living witness to the fairness of the election committee, and I am prepared to say so." [Applause and cheers on the democratic side and in the galleries.]

Taking advantage of the five minute debate, Mr. Kennedy, of Ohio, replying to censures by Mr. Crisp, passed upon his conduct as presiding officer of the Ohio Senate, rehearsed the history of the ballot box frauds in Hamilton county and defended his conduct in refusing to allow the four members of the legislature whose seats were contested to take part in the proceedings.

The Vice President-elect.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—At ten o'clock this morning Vice President-elect Levi P. Morton started from the Pennsylvania railroad depot in Jersey City for Washington. It was expected that there would be a large delegation accompanying him, but the large crowd which had congregated at the depot were disappointed when they saw only three carriages, containing Mr. Morton's family and servants alight and enter the private car of Vice President Thomson, of the Pennsylvania railroad. As Mr. Morton traversed the depot platform the railroad employees lifted their caps. When the party were comfortably seated, a small army of newspaper men surrounded the car. Mr. Morton recognized them, and at once came out on the rear platform. After shaking hands with the scribes, he stood for several minutes conversing with them. He was chatty about talking on public affairs, and mentioned in this connection, nothing of general interest. His wife and children, he said, would return to this city about ten days after the inauguration. Among those who went on the same train, but not in the private car, were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Whitney, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Plummer. General Joseph C. Jackson, Joseph Pool and John H. Hall were at the depot and had a brief conversation with Mr. Morton. The trip will be made as quickly as possible.

The President-Elect's Arrival.

As stated in the GAZETTE, President elect Harrison and his family arrived in Washington yesterday afternoon, after a pleasant journey from Indianapolis. To avoid the crowd gathered at the depot the inaugural committee met the train at Ninth street and Maryland avenue, and Gen. Harrison and party quietly entered carriages and were driven to the Arlington Hotel, where, during the evening, the General received a number of callers, among whom was Mr. Prudden, executive secretary of President Cleveland, who formally extended the courtesies of the White House, President and Mrs. Cleveland having invited their successors to dine with them this evening. The presidential party occupy the entire Reverdy Johnson part of the hotel. General Harrison had just given orders to have his dinner served when James G. Blaine arrived. He was at once ushered into the presence of the President elect, and it was the first consultation between the two since the election. They were alone, consequently no one knows what passed between them. Mr. Blaine remained fifteen or twenty minutes. After dinner General Harrison and son-in-law, Mr. McKee took a stroll. They left the hotel by the private entrance and proceeded out Vermont avenue and Massachusetts avenue, past Secretary Bayard's residence, thence to Connecticut avenue, down H street to the Arlington. Upon his return to his apartments he directed Mr. Halford to admit such persons as called on business. Among the visitors were the senatorial committee, composed of Senators Hoar, Cullum and Cockrell. Their stay was but short, the object of their call being to ascertain if the President-elect had any suggestions to offer in connection with the inaugural ceremonies at the Capitol. Shortly after 8 o'clock visitors began to arrive, and for two hours the lobby was crowded with well known Congressmen, politicians and others. It is stated that Gen. Harrison has informed Messrs. Evans, Hiecock and Fassett that any one of the three secretarieships of the Navy, Justice or Agriculture can go to New York, provided the leaders there will settle on some man who will be acceptable to all factions.

CONGRESS.—The United States Senate yesterday passed the army appropriation bill in an amended form. One of the amendments appropriates $35,000 for a counterpoise battery on the Potomac river, below Washington. The House passed the deficiency appropriation bill and took up the Indian appropriation bill. Mr. Kennedy, of Ohio, made a bitter political speech, and was effectively replied to by Messrs. Crisp and Turner, of Georgia, and Breckinridge, of Arkansas. Mr. Springer introduced a bill providing for the admission of the Territories of Arizona, Idaho and Wyoming as States. An evening session was held for the further consideration of the Indian appropriation bill.

THE "Committee of Arrangements" are catching it for the way in which Gen. Harrison was whisked into Washington yesterday to the disappointment of the "madding crowd," who had assembled at the depot to witness the coming ruler.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Dullness was again the most prominent feature in the stock market this morning, and prices showed very little change from last evening's figures. A strong tone prevailed in the early dealings, however, and advances of small fractions were made all over the list, while a few shares showed marked strength. Toward 11 o'clock the market was very dull and barely steady, generally at small fractions below than first prices. Money easy at 1 1/2 per cent.
